

First Warrant Officer to Graduate from the National Defense University– aka “War College”

By CW4 Silvia Love (WO NET Topic Leader), TRADOC LNO (HRC), HQ TRADOC

>>CW4 Bone receives Chancellor's Award

BREAKING GROUND:

In 2011, CW4 Kevin A. N. Bone (180A) became the first Warrant Officer to graduate from the National Defense University, better known as the “War College”. Mr. Bone also received the Chancellor’s Award for outstanding performance and leadership in working with the International Students. To mark this mile-stone, Mr. Bone presented a statuette to the Chancellor of the College for posterity, representing the Warrant Officer Corps. The inscription reads: “Presented to the College of International Security Affairs, National Defense University, on behalf of the First U.S. Army Warrant Officer (180A) to Graduate CTF, Class 2011, CW4 Kevin A. N. Bone "De Oppresso Liber." CW4 Bone was previously a Branch Manager at the Human Resources Command, Alexandria, VA. In that position, he was an advocate for Advanced Civil Schooling opportunities for Warrant Officers. He commented that we need to keep fighting for our Warrant Officers’ education, especially with today’s expectations of the Warrant Officer.