

Brigadier General
James Gilman
Commanding General
Brooke Army Medical Center
Great Plains Regional Medical Command

Brigadier General James Gilman hails from Hymera, Indiana. He is a 1974 graduate of Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology with a degree in Biological Engineering and received his MD degree from Indiana School of Medicine in 1978.

Following a categorical medicine internship and residency in internal medicine at Brooke Army Medical Center (BAMC), General Gilman served as the Chief Resident in Medicine at BAMC and then as staff internist and Chief of Internal Medicine, U. S. Army Medical Department Activity, Nurnberg, Germany. He then returned to BAMC where he completed his fellowship in cardiovascular diseases and served as staff cardiologist. In 1991, he completed a fellowship in clinical cardiac electrophysiology at the University of Texas Health Science Center, Houston, Texas. He then served as Chief Cardiac Electrophysiology and assistant Chief of the Cardiology Service at BAMC. From 1994 until 1997, he served as Chief of Cardiology and Cardiology Fellowship Program Director at BAMC. In 1995, he deployed to Haiti with the 2nd Armored Cavalry in support of Operation Uphold Democracy. Subsequent assignments include: Deputy Commander for Clinical Services, Darnall Army Community Hospital, Fort Hood, Texas; Deputy Commander for Clinical Services, Madigan Army Medical Center; Commander, Bassett Army Community Hospital, Fort Wainwright, Alaska; Acting Assistant Surgeon General for Force Protection, Office of the Surgeon General (OTSG); and Director, Health Policy and Services, OTSG. Before assuming his current position as Commander, Brooke Army Medical Center and Great Plains Regional Medical Command, Brigadier General Gilman served as the Commander of the Walter Reed Health Care System.

Brigadier General Gilman is a graduate of the Command and General Staff College and the Army War College. He is board certified in both internal Medicine and Cardiovascular Diseases. He is a fellow of the American College of Cardiology. Military awards and decorations include the Legion of Merit (3 OLC), Meritorious Service Medal (2 OLC), the Army Staff Badge, and the Expert Field Medical Badge. He is also a recipient of The Surgeon General's "A" Proficiency Designator and a member of the Order of Military Medical Merit.